HE NEW BARNES WRITING BOOKS are planned to assist in teaching plain, rapid, legible writing in elementary schools. The plan of instruction is in harmony with modern pedagogical thought and practice, and the script is a direct reproduction of actual pen work.

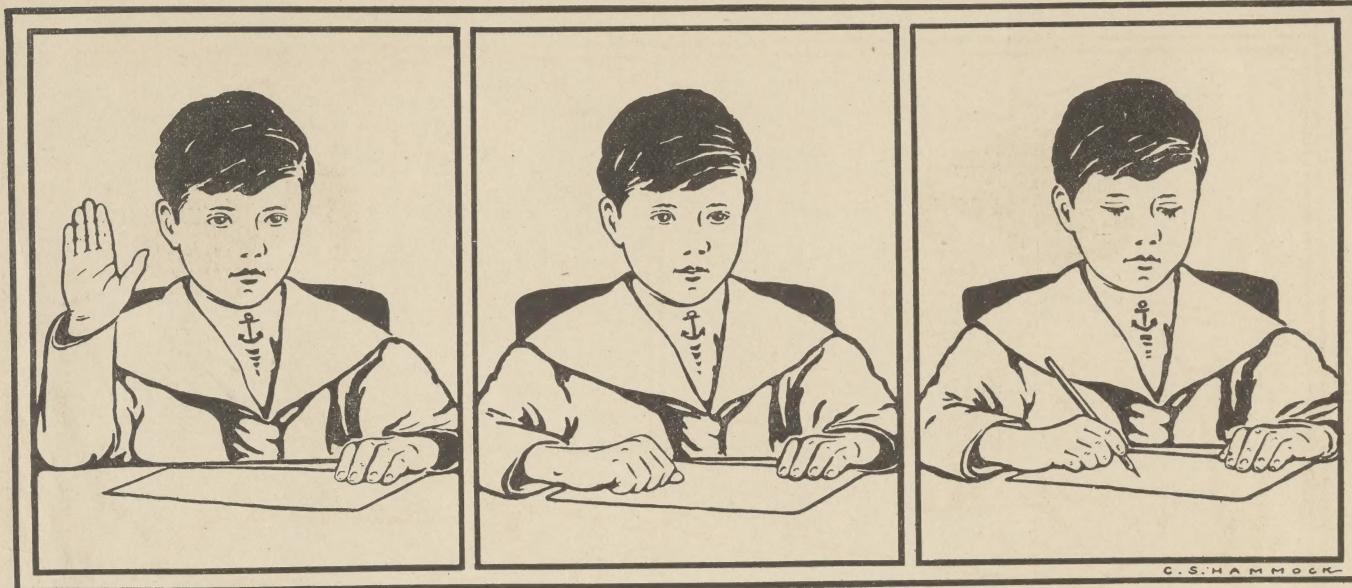

In presenting the first carefully graded course in muscular movement writing, it is hoped that these books will aid materially in lessening the difficulties encountered in teaching this subject, and be of real help to boys and girls in acquiring a serviceable style of penmanship.

Complete detailed suggestions for teaching these books are given in the Teachers' Manual.

To the Teacher:

Complete directions for teaching the subject of writing as presented in this book are given in the Teachers' Manual. Read carefully the general suggestions before beginning the lessons.

To the Teacher:

Interpret these illustrations to the pupils and be sure that they understand what is required, as the habit of sitting in a proper position is of great importance.
